

Shaft Measuring Kit Mitutoyo Basic

K551595 space4win Demokit

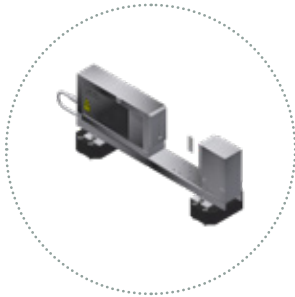

space4win is a universal measurement and control software for recording, evaluating and documenting measurement data. The software delivers reliable measurement results for the most demanding measurements, is extremely flexible, controls all common measuring equipment and measuring mechanisms and has all common software and hardware interfaces.

In this demokit, the component characteristics length & diameter can be measured using an individual combination of indicator, probe and Laser Scan Micrometer (LSM) and evaluated with space4win. Thus, the extensive functions and possibilities of space4win can be tested.

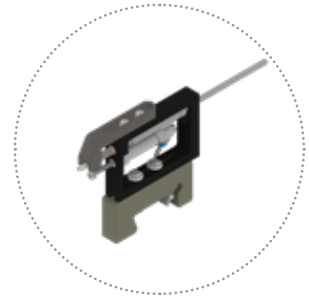

A manual with detailed instructions and information on the correct use of space4win is included.
